

Death and Mourning

Topic Definition

scene one: Death is raking dead mice with tongues hanging out and X's over eyes. There's a kneeling bell beside them with it's hands in the air like he's screaming 'WHY!' A macaw has one of the dead mice off to the side and he's doing the ABRA CADAVER trick with it and saying ABRA CADAVER. This dead mouse is on a mirror bed with mirror at ends to prevent anything gory. A mournful bear is putting a wreath onto this dead mouse.

scene two: Death is raking a dead-skunk. Sheep troll is plugging nose and squeezing a lemon onto it. The lemon is lamenting with arms to the sky. Obi-sequins is sprinkling sequins on it. Ali-G is crying and blowing nose into dollar, possibly with George crying on the bill as well.

Graphics

Put special attention on the morning sun rising in the background. The death is giving an Elegy so green algae is coming out of his mouth while he's speaking onto a piece of paper. Notice that the dead bear is in a coffin and the lid is open. On the dead bear there is a Christmas wreath so make the leaves green and the ribbon red. The troll is going to be stone with the scepter being gold with jewels on the end of it. The O and the B are on the end of snow skis. The lemon is crying onto dollar bills.

Instructional audio

In this scene are synonyms for death when related to mourning.

Dolorous; dollars; adjective; feeling or expressing great sorrow or distress.

Lament; lemon mint; noun; a passionate expression of grief. Lament can also be used as a verb meaning mourning of a person's loss or death.

Knell; kneeling bell; noun; the sound of a bell when rung solemnly for a death or funeral.

Elegy; algae; noun; a poem of serious reflection typically a lament for the dead.

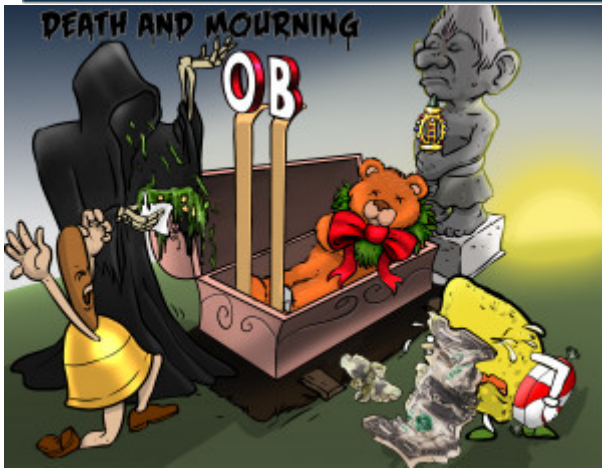

Obsequies; O B skis; noun; funeral rites.

Bereave; bear wreath; verb; be deprived of a loved one through a profound absence.

Sepulchral; scepter troll; adjective; relating to a tomb or interment. Sepulchral can also mean a gloomy, dismal speech

CREATIVE AUDIO

We are gathered here on this emotional morning to celebrate the life of a fallen friend. While there aren't enough dollars in the entire world to dry the eyes of this sobbing lemon mint, he remains grateful for the times he shared with the dearly departed. This kneeling bell shares his sentiment, and lets the sound of grief ring out for all to hear. Even Death himself is in attendance to pay respect. The slimy green algae spraying from beneath his hood takes nothing away from his beautiful poem. It merely shows the depth of his sadness. And even though these O.B. skis were the cause of death, Bear wreath would want them buried with him. His friends know he died doing what he loved. They want the world to know, here lies a bear who loved his life. And by erecting this scepter troll, they leave an everlasting monument to his memory..

PLAY PICMONIC

Dolorous

Dollars

(dol-er-uh s)

Adjective

Feeling or expressing great sorrow or distress

Lament

Lemon Mint

(luh-ment)

Noun

1. A passionate expression of grief

Verb

2. Mourn a person's loss or death

Knell

Kneeling Bell

(nel)

Noun

The sound of a bell, esp. when rung solemnly for a death or funeral

Elegy

Algae

(el-i-jee)

Noun

1. A poem of serious reflection, typically a lament for the dead

2. A piece of music in a mournful style

Obsequies

O B Skis

(ob-si-kwee)

Noun

Funeral rites

Bereave

Bear Wreath

(bih-reev)

Verb

Be deprived of a loved one through a profound absence, esp. due to the loved one's death; the year after they had been bereaved

Sepulchral

Scepter Troll

(suh-puhl-kruh l)

Adjective

1. Of or relating to a tomb or interment; sepulchral monuments

2. Gloomy; dismal; a speech delivered in sepulchral tones.